

WOODSTOCK 1969

“Woodstock: 1969 has been an exciting journey,” says Prizgintas, whose cello shows are shown more than 200 times annually across the Hudson Valley. “Though some classics from existing shows will be featured in this new program, the bulk of material being presented is fresh and new, covering the depth of artists featured at the Woodstock Festival. Among those I am excited to share, especially with a unique electric cello sound, include the musicians Joe Cocker, Janis Joplin, The Who, Blood, Sweat & Tears, Jefferson Airplane, Mountain, and Creedence Clearwater Revival.” What has perhaps been even more exciting in this journey is crafting the historical narrations that accompany each selection to blend history and harmony. This allows Alex to bring in a few artists that, while not present at Woodstock, such as Joni Mitchell, contributed in important ways to the sentiments of that era.

With a Little Help from My Friends: Joe Cocker

Feelin’ Alright: Joe Cocker

We Shall Overcome: Joan Baez

Fortunate Son: Creedence Clearwater Revival

God Bless the Child: Blood, Sweat, & Tears

Me and Bobby McGee: Janis Joplin

Pinball Wizard: The Who

Mississippi Queen: Mountain

White Rabbit: Jefferson Airplane

Purple Haze: Jimi Hendrix

Woodstock: Joni Mitchell